

Squad Information Sheet

A Basic Introduction

All BD Youth riders are encouraged to participate in the rider squad test scheme which is designed to help you improve as a rider. It is important to remember that whilst there are competitions and team opportunities that focus on these tests that is not their primary function. The rider skills tests provide a pathway for rider development throughout the year and underpin all our training. The pathway that the squadding system follows can be seen below, it is important to remember that each squad is progressive as is the development within each level.

The starting point

All BD Youth riders are strongly encouraged to participate in the squad pathway. Riders wishing to participate in regional team competitions are required to be squadded. Riders aged 11 years and under are automatically a D squad rider and will receive a D squad badge at their first squad assessment. Anyone over the age of 11 automatically becomes a C squad rider, and will then be assessed and the assessor will place them on the appropriate squad.

How riders are assessed

Riders are put in to a squad following a squad assessment run within the region. The system is in place to help build confidence as well as understanding and ability – it isn't a good thing to try and rush through the levels. There are no time limits on a rider's progression through the system, nor any requirement that they must eventually be A squad riders.

The tests and how they are judged

The rider skills tests have been designed to show the assessor(s) how well a rider can influence their horse's way of going through a supple and correct seat, good preparation, and a good relationship with their horse. Although they may appear relatively simple, they are constructed in a way that requires a great deal of skill to be able to ride them fluently and easily.

What is the assessor looking for at each squad?

- D Squad - for riders up to the end of the calendar year of their 11th birthday
